6-0048-EN-Googlebot can not access CSS and JS files on ...

Author:
ShopFactory

Created On: 01 Mar 2016 9:57 PM

Please note that the robots.txt file is only there to tell search engines which files NOT to look at. None of the files in robots.txt affects Google SEO. Therefore, you can simply edit your robots.txt file and delete the rows pertaining to js and css files. This is located in <ShopFactory installation folder>Common FilesparseLang folder.
- Open Windows Explorer
- Navigate to your ShopFactory installation folder
- Open up "Common FilesparseLang" folder
- Right click on the robots.txt file and click on EDIT
- Delete the rows with .js and .css in it

- You need to publish your shop again.