If you are having Problems with Publishing to hosting server and ShopFactory cannot connect or if you receive a message like "ensure you have the correct privileges with your hosting". Then below are some suggestions to help solve the issue

1. Check that you have entered the correct login/password
2. If the username/ password is correct try un-checking the "passive" feature, or
- 3 Check .htaccess (as per below)

If none of that works then try the following:

4. Check The FTP server address you have entered in the field Remote Host

a) instead of typing `www.domainname.com` to connect to the hosting server try typing `ftp.domainname.com` b) If that does not work try entering the actual IP address. Even though some hosting companies allow the `www.domainname.com` routing to be used for publishing, when used in the Publish window of ShopFactory it sometimes results in errors, depending on how your hosting provider has setup your hosting space.
