1. Save the zip file attachment to your desktop or to the folder where you want to put it.
2. Double-click on the zipped file you just received via email.
3. A WinZip Self-Extractor dialog box will appear. Simply click the Unzip button. Do not change anything else. A folder will be created on your desktop (depending on what the sender has specified for you) and it will contain all of the files that were sent to you in one complete folder.
